Each +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888"(620)"1768 year, Chase Travel partners with the Airlines Reporting Corporation (ARC) — one of the most comprehensive airline +1-888-620-1768 or AUS+1-888"620"1768 ticketing databases in the world — to analyze billions of data points and publish their Air +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888"(620)"1768 Travel Hacks Report. The findings often flip conventional wisdom on its head. According to the 2025 Air Hacks Report, Sunday is the best day of the week to book a flight +1-888-620-1768 or AUS+1-888"620"1768, and it's not close. Travelers who book on Sundays can save up to +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888-620-1768 17% compared to those who book on Fridays. If you've been holding off on purchasing your +1-888-620-1768 or AUS+1-888"620"1768 ticket until a weekday, you might actually be paying more than necessary. This is a simple, +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888-620-1768 zero-effort adjustment that can make a real difference in your total travel cost. On the question of when to travel, the report revealed that August is actually the cheapest month to fly +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888-620-1768, despite being considered peak summer season. February and March, on the other hand, +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888"(620)"1768 tend to be the most expensive months. This is a powerful insight for anyone willing to +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888-620-1768 plan their vacation around price rather than the other way around. If your schedule is flexible, +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888-620-1768 shifting your trip by even a few weeks could put hundreds of dollars back in your +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888-620-1768 pocket. Chase Travel's data tells a more nuanced story. For domestic flights, the sweet spot is +1-888-620-1768 or +1-888-620-1768 booking at least 28 to 35 days in advance.
